

RUSSIA LOSES ONE, JAPAN TWO VESSELS

The Giliak Sunk in Port Arthur Harbor by Japs.

One Japanese Vessel Sunk and a Schooner Captured—Stakelberg's Brigade Was Routed.

ARMIES TWO MILES APART

FOUR SHIPS REPORTED SUNK. Tiao Yang, June 6.—It is persistently reported that the Port Arthur squadron made a sortie shortly before dawn Saturday, found the Japanese fleet quite unsuspecting the presence of hostile warships, with the result that four Japanese ships were sunk during the attack.

JAPANESE PROMOTIONS. Tokio, June 6.—Vice Admiral Tojo has been promoted to Admiral for distinguished work about Port Arthur. Other naval and military promotions were announced this morning.

PORT ARTHUR IMPREGNABLE. St. Petersburg, June 6.—W. S. Smith, brother of the American consul at Moscow, who was in business at Port Arthur has arrived here. He is confident Port Arthur can never be taken by the Japanese except with the sacrifice of thousands of men.

RUSSIAN BOAT DESTROYED. London, June 6.—Baron Hayashi, the Japanese minister, has a dispatch from Tokio confirming the reported sinking of the Russian gunboat Giliak at Port Arthur. The boat was destroyed presumably by Japanese mines. Other Russian gunboats and destroyers and launches engaged in clearing mines outside Port Arthur, hurriedly fled inside.

CAPTURE JAP BOAT. Tokio, June 6.—A small Japanese schooner was captured by Russian off the west coast of the Island of Saghalien east of Siberia. The schooner was declared a prize of war and the crew of sixty-three was made prisoners.

JAPANESE VESSEL SUNK. New Chwang, June 6.—The Russian consul here reports a large Japanese vessel sunk off Taitienwan.

ANOTHER REPORT. Chefoo, June 6.—It is reported that a large Japanese merchantman was blown up off Taitienwan by a mine.

THE RUSSIANS REPULSED. London, June 6.—The Daily Telegraph's Tien Tsin correspondent wires: "Four thousand Russians belonging to General Stakelberg's brigade, on May 31 attacked 1500 Japanese occupying a position five miles south of Wafangtien. The Russians were repulsed, losing 200 killed and 400 wounded. The Japanese lost more than 100 killed."

READY FOR A BIG BATTLE. Chefoo, June 6.—Only two miles separated Japanese and Russian armies on the Liao Tung peninsula on June 2, according to Chinese who have arrived here from Dalny.

The Japanese army, reinforced by the men who landed at Dalny, occupied Twing Ching and also San Chimpoo, several miles west of Dalny, then proceeded along the coast toward Port Arthur. On one side of the army are high mountains and on the other side is the sea, from which the Japanese gunboats are supporting the flank of the army.

On June 2 the Japanese forces were within seven miles of the outer forts of Port Arthur, only two miles from the Russian army, which is ready to protect their further advance. The Chinese believed that there would be a big battle at this point. It is also stated by the Chinese that the Japanese have moved their base to Dalny from Taitienwan. The larger Japanese ships are anchored outside the smaller ones inside the harbor. Troops are being landed, they say, from small vessels, apparently coming from Pitsew or the Elliott islands. The

A DASTARDLY DEED AGAINST WORKMEN

A Train Dynamited and Fifteen Killed in Colorado.

The Depot Exploded and Bodies Were Mangled Beyond Recognition.

THE PERPETRATORS UNKNOWN

Cripple Creek, Col., June 6.—Fully fifteen men were killed and a score injured early this morning by the dynamiting of a train and the depot at Independence as a result of a plot against the men, the perpetrator of which is unknown.

A number of the injured cannot survive. Three hundred pounds of dynamite were placed under the depot and exploded, just as 25 non-union miners from the Findlay mine at Bull Hill were standing on the platform.

The building was entirely demolished and the train hurled in the air. The bodies were blown in all directions and mangled beyond recognition. The explosion was no doubt the result of a deeply laid plot. The intention was evidently to kill non-union miners. Findlay was the first mine to resume with non-union miners. The great strike was declared last August and is still on.

ASK FOR TROOPS.

Victor, Colo., June 6.—The Mine Owners' association held a secret meeting at Cripple Creek today and sent an urgent request that Governor Peabody rush troops into the district immediately, claiming that life and property are in extreme danger from violence. If the governor refuses, the appeal will be sent to President Roosevelt for federal troops.

PROMINENT MAN IN HICKMAN TRAGEDY

Ellis Mayes Killed by Dick Seearce at Cayce.

Bad Blood Had Existed Between the Two Men for Some Time Past.

FURTHER TROUBLE IS FEARED

Hickman Ky., June 6.—Yesterday morning at Cayce, nine miles from here, Dick Seearce shot and killed Ellis Mayes. Immediately after the killing Seearce came here and gave himself up. The parties met in front of Johnson's store, when Mr. Mayes, it is reported, cursed Mr. Seearce. Both men drew their pistols and commenced firing. After both guns had been emptied Mr. Mayes had fallen, shot in the breast. He had enough strength remaining to draw another pistol and empty it at Mr. Seearce who, after emptying his pistol, had run.

Trouble had been brewing between the men, their kinsmen and friends for some time, having commenced three years ago, when Will Watson, brother-in-law of Mr. Seearce, killed Joe Trease, a relative of Mr. Mayes. Watson was acquitted last year, after a trial running through several terms of court.

The trouble was further intensified a short time ago, when young Mr. Trease, a brother-in-law of Mr. Mayes, the man killed today, eloped with a young lady of the neighborhood. At that time threats were made and a tragedy narrowly averted. The killing has aroused the whole vicinity and it is feared further trouble will result.

Chinese further reported that a large number of Chinese have been shot while attempting to get through the Russian lines.

DRUNKEN TOUGH HURLS A BRICK

Into a Street Car Full of People on Broadway.

Ed Long Badly Hurt—Arthur Dunn and W. B. Eddings Arrested for the Offense.

THE POLICE COURT DOINGS

Arthur Dunn is again in trouble, the most serious he has been in for some time. He is a well known painter, and yesterday he and W. B. Eddings, of Fulton, a paper hanger who has been working in Paducah, got drunk and took in the town. In the afternoon they went to Wallace park and had trouble at the refreshment stand, being finally put out. They then boarded a car, and when it came past the Broadway road some of the spectators at the baseball game boarded it, until it was quite full.

It is claimed that Dunn and his companion used loud and obscene language on the car, stuck their feet out the window and aroused the ire of more than one passenger.

There were ladies on the car and the language was so bad that finally the passengers began to demand that he be put off the car, and the conductor, assisted by several others, succeeded in putting both Dunn and his companion off near Tenth and Broadway, after they had used more indecent language and defied anyone to try to put them off.

Dunn upon reaching the ground seized a brick and hurled it into the car. It struck Mr. Ed Long, a plumber, and oldest son of Mr. Courtney Long, and badly injured his jaw and face. The blow rendered him unconscious and many thought he was killed. He was taken into a drug store nearby and revived, and Dunn was captured with his companion and turned over to the police.

The crowd was in an ugly mood, and there were cries of "lynch him" and other threatening remarks, but fortunately cooler heads prevailed and the two were looked up.

Dr. Brooks was called and made an investigation of the wounds and found them to be very painful, but not necessarily dangerous.

Dunn was locked up on a charge of malicious assault, and his companion for a breach of the peace. A large crowd was on hand at police court today, and on account of Long's condition the case against Dunn was continued until next Monday. Eddings was fined $100 and given 20 days in jail for a breach of the peace and Judge Sanders roundly denounced such rowdy conduct and said that men of Dunn's ilk are the kind who cause trouble for people who like a little diversion on the Sabbath and have no other day on which to enjoy it. Dunn and his companion had not been to the baseball game but to the park.

Judge Sanders will issue a warrant against Dunn for the language he used on the car, and also one for throwing a stone into the car. He will also probably issue another one against Eddings.

Dunn is always causing the police trouble. He is quick to throw a brick, and it was not long ago that he threw one through the door of the Red Fox saloon on Second street after he had been put out. An effort will be made this time to give him the full extent of the law on as many charges as possible. Other cases tried were:

Edelin Stone and Ben Marshall were charged with threatening a watchman at the Alden Knitting Mills. Marshall was dismissed and the case against the other man was left open.

Lulu Foster was fined $20 and costs for a breach of the peace.

Charles Buckley was fined $20 and costs for using profane language at Mr. Erve Berry's store.

E. Clark, John Ferrell, Walter Prince and J. A. Ayers were fined $1 and costs for plain drunks.

David Roberts, colored, pleaded guilty to a vagrancy charge and was given thirty days at hard labor.

LIVELY TIME

Woman Complains of Being Struck by a Man.

She Changed Her Mind About Prosecuting and Tries to Escape.

A colored woman living near Second and Clark street and giving her name as Annie Green, appeared at the city hall last night and said that Charles Foster, colored, had struck her, and she wanted him arrested.

Officers were told to go around and investigate and she then changed her mind. She ran away from them while they were on the way, and succeeded in getting in the door first and bolting it.

She and then man created a commotion inside and in his haste to escape they turned the lamp over and set fire to the house.

About this time the officers got in, put out the fire, and arrested the woman. The man had escaped through a rear door.

They took her to the city hall and her screams and moans aroused many people on the way. Her name proved to be Lulu Foster and she was fined $20 and costs by Judge Sanders.

The breach of the peace case against Dr. Hessig was continued until Wednesday.

Cordie Russell and Harry Norton were fined $30 and costs each for disorderly conduct.

Mr. J. R. Puryear went to Dawson today for his health.

ADMINISTRATION'S VICTORY COMPLETE

Beckham Forces Have Enough in Five Districts to Win.

Will Put Governor Beckham Forward As Candidate for State Chairman.

LOCAL DELEGATES APPOINTED

In the county mass conventions held throughout Kentucky for the selection of delegates to the Democratic state convention in Louisville Wednesday: Hon. Lewis McQuown, of Bowling Green, whose candidacy for chairman of the state committee has been championed by Governor Beckham and what has come to be known in the present fight as the administration forces, won easily.

McQuown, from reports from 117 of the 132 county and legislative district meetings, carried all save five of the counties in the first five congressional districts besides at least twelve large counties east of Louisville, with the preference of quite a number of other central and eastern counties, yet an unknown quantity. The five counties which Mr. McQuown seems to have lost in Western Kentucky have a total of 45 votes. Taking these 45 from the total of the 574 in the first five congressional districts, would leave Mr. McQuown with 529 votes just 58 short of enough, in the first five districts alone. In addition, Mr. McQuown carried Central and in Eastern Kentucky counties with an aggregate of 100 votes. This does not take into consideration many counties the preference of whose delegates is not known. There will be 1,172 delegates in the convention, making 587 necessary to a choice. Mr. McQuown seems to have 629 votes assured, with quite a number of counties to hear from.

As a result victory for the Beckham forces, the managers of that side decide to place Governor Beckham forward as their candidate for temporary chairman of the state convention Wednesday, claiming to have private advices showing about 800 votes with them out of the total of 1,172.

The returns show an overwhelming sentiment for Parker for president, although there were comparatively few instructions, and it seemed to be clearly indicated that Parker delegates would be selected to the national convention from each of the eleven districts. Two counties in the Second district and three in the Fourth instructed for Hearst.

Many counties instructed for Governor Beckham and Senators Blackburn and McCreary for delegates at large, and their election by the state convention seems to be a foregone conclusion.

The Beckham-McQuown forces have undoubtedly secured control of the First district, Second district, Third district, Fourth district, Fifth district and Sixth district. The Blackburn-McCreary-Kehoe forces have secured control of the Seventh, Eighth and Ninth districts. Each side seems to have strength in the Tenth and Eleventh districts, and each claims that it will control there.

One of the interesting and exciting battlegrounds was the Seventh congressional district, the home district of Senator Blackburn, in which Mr. McQuown seems to have carried the counties of Franklin, Bourbon and Henry, with a total of 39 votes.

The 104 Louisville delegates are unanimous for McQuown for state chairman and for Parker for president and with Governor Beckham in his plans for the convention.

LOCAL DELEGATES NAMED.

Chairman R. J. Barber, who was authorized at the Democratic mass convention here Saturday to appoint 15 delegates and alternates to the state convention at Louisville Wednesday, has named the following:

Delegates—J. W. Campbell, Al Hy-marsh, C. K. Wheeler, Hugh Stapp, J. M. Lang, C. E. Gridley, W. M. Reed, B. B. Davis, C. W. Emery, Charles

BOARD MAY ELECT THE NEW TEACHERS

Tomorrow Night Regular Meeting of Trustees.

Superintendent Lieb to Render Interesting Report at the Session.

OTHER PUBLIC SCHOOL NOTES

There is a move on foot among members of the board of education to elect the teachers for the ensuing year at tomorrow night's meeting, instead of at an adjourned meeting later in the month, as heretofore. It is not settled, however, that it will be done. The present board has not followed the custom since it went into office, having already elected the principals.

At tomorrow night's session the opinion of City Solicitor Ed H. Puryear relative to reading the bible in the schools will be read.

Superintendent Lieb will present his regular monthly report, and will probably suggest improvements in teaching facilities and in the equipment of the buildings. The board has already decided to add a twelfth grade and there is talk of putting up the two new school buildings, one in Rowlandtown district and the other above the bridge. Superintendent Lieb has not secured sufficient data to fully report on the advisability of putting up these buildings, and as far as he has been able to investigate, thinks by an arrangement of school districts in the city all pupils can be accommodated without the addition of these buildings, but this is not to be interpreted that Superintendent Lieb does not think within the course of a year or so the buildings will not be needed. The superintendent is simply assisting the board in economy.

The condition of the schools is very good, the report will read, and the attendance is about up to the standard. The measles put down the attendance the fore part of the second term but all pupils have returned.

Superintendent Lieb will not make his final annual report until the July meeting unless the board requests it sooner. There is much to say and Superintendent Lieb would like to have as much time as possible in compiling his work and also the work of his predecessor.

Twelve or fifteen hundred fans yesterday afternoon at league park saw the Indians defeat the Hoppers in a game that was too one-sided to be very interesting. Paducah's old "hoodoo" failed utterly to do its usual stunt and the article of ball put up was almost pitiable. Not only was Alexander, their southpaw, pounded in a most cruel and merciless manner, but the Hoppers couldn't land very frequently on the horsehide and when they accepted chances in the field made the rankst errors, as well as doing a lot of bum playing that did not result in technical errors.

The Indians battled like fiends, and played good, snappy ball. Brabie pitched one of his gilt-edged games and had splendid support. It was very clear that Hopkinsville is not in Paducah's class this year.

NO SUITS

Can be Filed Against the Coal Combine.

Damages Only to the Extent of the Salvage.

It is probably not generally known that a federal law makes it impossible to recover damages from injuries or death in steamboat disasters except to the extent of the value of the steamer as shown by the salvage.

The coal combine has just secured an injunction in the federal court at Louisville preventing damage suits being filed against it on account of the Fred Wilson disaster. Judge Evans granted the injunction restraining all persons injured and the heirs of all persons killed in the wreck of the towboat from bringing suit against the company. The suit was brought when it was learned that Emma Williamson and Carl Oddy contemplated suing the company. The effect of the injunction is to place liability on the company to the extent of the wreck as it now stands and appraisers have been appointed by the court, and will as soon as possible file a report. Damages will then be secured out of the appraisal, those suing securing a pro rata provided they prove their claims.

The petition of the company as filed under the maritime laws of the United States, which limit the liability of owners of any boat or ship to the value after a wreck. At first the law applied only to boats which went to sea, but later it was made applicable to boats in inland waters.

John Howard, Max Samuelson and J. T. Duffy were appointed appraisers. The same proceeding was followed out in Paducah a few years ago when the City of Golconda capsize and drowned eighteen people.

NO FIGHT YET

IT IS POSSIBLE NOTHING WILL BE DONE ABOUT SUNDAY BASEBALL.

No steps to fight Sunday baseball have been taken by any of those opposed to it. One who was prominent in it last year stated today that he had nothing to do with it this year, and that he understood that it is possible nothing will be done this year unless it is to collect evidence and submit it to the September grand jury, and attempt to get indictments. It was demonstrated last summer that Sunday ball could not be easily stopped and the prospects now are that no very strenuous efforts will be made this year.

BACK TAXES

A suit has been filed at Louisville against the estate of the late Captain W. F. Norton, a former Paducahan, to collect $19,000 back taxes. The petition was filed by Revenue Agent T. C. Albritton, who claims that Captain Norton has personally worth $500,000 and gave in only $20,000 for assessment. Back taxes are claimed from 1899.

Previous to the order there was no limit to the weight of mail matter prepaid at the first class rate. TO GO SLOW

ENGINEERS MUST NOT COME FROM FULTON IN LESS THAN AN HOUR.

Orders have been issued to engineers on the Tennessee division of the Illinois Central to make no less than one hour between Paducah and Fulton. This order affects trains Nos. 101, 102, 103 and 104 only. They are the fast passenger trains and make but one stop between these two points, this at Mayfield.

Some engineers had been making the run in less than fifty minutes, including the stop.

PADUCAH CHOSEN

FOR 1905 MEETING

Stationary Engineers of Kentucky to Meet Here.

The Second Annual Session Was Held at Louisville Saturday.

ORGANIZATION IS INCREASING.

Paducah is to have the third annual convention of the Kentucky Association of Stationary Engineers, which held its second annual meeting at Louisville Saturday. About thirty delegates were in attendance and in the absence of the president, H. F. Shelby, who was perhaps fatally injured under an elevator in the Illinois Life building a few days ago, the meeting was called to order by Vice President R. Baumgarten.

Steps were taken by the association to assist the movement to secure the meeting of the National association of Stationary Engineers for Louisville in August or September, 1905. Delegates will be sent to the Ohio association and other state meetings to solicit their support. There will be a lively fight for the convention, as Detroit and Denver are already in the field. It will be held this year in Richmond, Va., on August 3.

The following officers were elected: President, R. Baumgarten, of Ashland; Vice President, Walter Schaeffer, of Maysville; Secretary, C. C. Childers, of Louisville, and Treasurer, Edward Koehnath, of Louisville.

It was decided to hold the next meeting here on the first Saturday in June. Mr. W. H. Force, of Foreman Brothers, attended as a delegate from Paducah and returned yesterday.

There are not many associations of Stationary Engineers in Kentucky but it is growing rapidly, and the Paducah organization has about 22 members. It is expected to increase it to 50 or 60 this year.

RESPECTED MAN

MR. A. GRACE DIES AFTER A LONG ILLNESS.

Mr. Augustus Grace, after a several weeks' illness, died Saturday night at 9:30 o'clock at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Leonard James 418 North Fifth street, from acute gastritis.

Mr. Grace was one of Paducah's oldest and most respected men, and had lived in Southwest Kentucky since 1815. He was born in Germany 60 years ago, and first lived in Baltimore after coming to America. He came to Clinton, Ky., in 1851, and afterwards lived at Lowes, where he was married to Miss Emma Smith, who died in 1884. He was a millwright and owned flour mills in both Clinton and Lowes. After coming to Paducah he was connected with the Langstaff mill, but retired from active work several years ago.

He was a genial, unassuming man and had many friends. He leaves three children, Mrs. James, Mr. Henry Grace and Mrs. Arthur Sugars, the latter of Needles, Cal., who did not reach Paducah until after his death.

He also leaves three sisters, Mrs. Carrie Johnson, of the city; Mrs. Hannah Bury, of Clinton, and Mrs. Mary Mills, of the county. The funeral was held at 10 o'clock this morning, burial at Oak Grove.

TIE BARGES SINK

Two barges containing several thousand ties belonging to the Ayer & Lord Tie company were swamped at Brookport in the Saturday squall, but it is thought the ties will be saved. The barges were in the tow of the steamer Ruth and tie catchers have been stationed all along the river for several miles taking in ties which have floated out of the barges. The loss will amount to but little in ties, but it will cost something to raise the barges.

ACONTINUAL STRAIN.

Many men and women are constantly subjected to what they commonly term "a continual strain" because of some financial or family trouble. It wears and distresses them both mentally and physically, affecting their nerves badly and bringing on liver and kidney ailments, with the attendant evils of constipation, loss of appetite, sleeplessness, low vitality and despondency. They cannot, as a rule, get rid of this "continual strain," but they can remedy its health destroying effects by taking frequent doses of Green's August Flower. It tones up the liver, stimulates the kidneys, insures healthy bodily functions, gives vim and spirit to one's whole being, and eventually dispels the physical or mental distress caused by that "continual strain." Trial bottle of August Flower, 25c; regular size, 75c. At DuBois, Kolb & Co.

Visitors Enjoy the World's Fair at Little Cost

FIRST-CLASS ACCOMMODATIONS FURNISHED FOR THOUSANDS WITHIN THE GROUNDS—RESERVATIONS CAN BE MADE IN ADVANCE IF DESIRED.

The folks who raised a hue and cry about the lack of accommodations at the world's fair and the prospects of high prices at hotels, have had to take a back seat, for the world's fair management, keenly alive to the fact that accommodations and moderate rates must be furnished to the people, to assure the success of the fair, have built right within the grounds a magnificent hotel, capable of entertaining tens of thousands of visitors. This hotel, which is called The Inside Inn, surpasses in size, in general equipments and in conveniences anything ever before attempted in the way of world's fair accommodations. It stands in the southeast corner of the grounds, 200 feet above the level of the city and is readily reached from the Union Station by the Market street, Laclade and Chouteau avenue car lines, or from any of the exposition gates by means of the Intramural railway which passes its doors. It is three stories high, with broad verandas extending round the entire building. It is 400 feet wide and 800 feet long, contains 2257 bedrooms and has a dining room capable of seating 2500 people at a single meal. The inn is run on both the American and European plans, and the rates vary from $1.50 to $5.50 per day, European, and from $3 to $7, American, including admission in both classes. The range of prices is determined solely by the size and location of the rooms—all guests having equal dining room privileges. To those whose visit to the exposition must be short, the convenience of thus living within the grounds cannot be overestimated. All wearisome and annoying street car or suburban train service is avoided and no admission fee other than the first is required. The saving thus effected is obvious. The enormous capacity of the Inside Inn assures ample accommodations for all—no matter when or in what numbers they come—and the rates will be found sufficiently elastic to meet every size of pocketbook. Reservations can be made for any period during the life of the fair. An interesting booklet, giving full details will be mailed to anyone addressing The Inside Inn, Administration Building, World's Fair Grounds, St. Louis.

THE WEATHER.

Fair and cooler tonight. Fair Tuesday.

MUZZLING THE PRESS.

The press of the country has given the judiciary another jolt. A federal judge fined a North Carolina editor $2,000 for alleged contempt of court, and an Illinois judge fined an editor and sent him to jail for merely publishing resolutions passed by a grand jury, replying to criticisms of the judge of the jury's slow methods. In both cases the editor came out on top.

In each instance the action of the judge was clearly an abuse of power. It is intended that our courts and judges shall be respected and protected, but it is not the spirit of the law which guarantees the freedom of the press; that a paper cannot criticize the action of a court of justice. Every newspaper and every writer on a newspaper is subject to the laws of the country, which offer to any person unjustly injured by a newspaper adequate recourse. There is no reason why arbitrary judges should possess the power to haul a citizen up and send him to jail for contempt possibly for nothing and without giving him any opportunity to secure justice, and it is a matter for congratulation that these two recent instances of it have failed.

Judges have no more right to abuse their authority than newspapers have. A newspaper has the same right to express an honest opinion about a court's action or decision as it has an opinion of the public acts of any other public officer. If the courts were to make themselves immune from criticism there would soon be no protection from the more unscrupulous of the judges. They could do as they pleased and no paper would dare say a word in censure or protest, and such a state of affairs is not contemplated in our constitution or laws. The people of this country are opposed to the muzzling of the press by anyone or anything, for any purpose. It is only when newspapers depart from legitimate journalism, as some of the yellow ones do, that they lose the support of the best people of the country.

The law in Kentucky in regard to contempt of court holds that a court may not for contempt impose on the offender a fine of more than $30, or imprisonment exceeding thirty hours, without the intervention of a jury. No court or judge shall proceed by process of contempt or impose a fine against any person who shall, by word or writing, inadvertently upon or examine into the proceedings or conduct of such court or judge, by words spoken or writing published, not in the presence of such court or judge in the courthouse during the sitting of the court. Inferior courts may not inflict a fine of more than $3 or imprisonment more than six hours. In all trials by jury the truth of the matter may be given in evidence.

A SUCCESSFUL CRUSADE.

The newspapers in Clarksville, Tenn., have succeeded in their crusade against the "town cow," and the council has passed an ordinance preventing stock from running at large. For several months complaints had been loud against the ravages of cows and the newspapers gave her tail a twist almost daily, but an element that preferred the cow as a public nuisance to flowers, pretty yards and streets free from the characteristics of a barn-yard, made a stubborn stand; and a great deal of pressure for quite a while was brought to bear by them on the council. The members of that board were finally convinced that it was best for the people and the city to require cows kept up, however, and passed the law necessary to enforce their convictions.

Other cities may see how easy it is when an earnest effort is made to accomplish it. There is ample argument in favor of owning cows, but no argument in favor of turning them loose on the highways and byways of a city the size of Paducah. Many people who own cows keep them up and are in favor of requiring everyone else to keep them up. An aggressive fight in Paducah would soon result as it has in Clarksville.

The state administration again showed the Democrats of Kentucky a thing or two Saturday. Those fellows who are getting the benefit of public offices are not going to be defeated if they can help it. The Democrats of McCracken county and elsewhere had ample warning beforehand, and if they were not satisfied with the management of their party, or were not enough interested in it to know or care what it is or may be, they can blame no one but themselves for a continuation of it. A man who knows and doesn't care is worse than one who knows and does his best to prevent a thing. Goebellism seems to have as firm a grasp on the throat of the Democratic party as it has on the state itself.

The people of Kentucky, or at least many of them, have shown their disapproval of Jim Howard's conviction for the Goebel murder, by subscribing $2581 to the fund to take his case higher. This is more than was asked, but all over enough will be given to his destitute family. The Louisville Herald and a committee of Louisville citizens started the fund and the donations have been numerous and from every part of the state. Jim Howard's release will be a victory for Kentucky justice and manhood.

The idea advanced recently in congress that it is unwise to invest money in battleships because they must soon be supplanted by newer and more effective vehicles of war, does not appear to have been accepted by any of the nations of the world. France has just decided to spend $62,000,000 on her navy this year, an increase of over one million dollars over last year. A battleship can no more be invented which is entirely invulnerable against the powerful modern engines of war than a man can be found who is bullet proof.

Says the Owensboro Inquirer, Democratic: A fleshpot contemporary says, "Thank God for it—no Kentucky senatorship was ever bought." This is possibly true, but a governorship of the state was stolen, both in convention and after the election. Stealing is a more disreputable practice than buying.

CAUGHT SHRIMPS

FISHERMAN STARTS SOMETHING NEW IN THE WAY OF FISHING.

Tom Bolin, a fisherman of Dogtown, has successfully demonstrated that genuine shrimps can be caught in the Ohio river. He used to catch them down about Vicksburg and Memphis, and a few days ago thought it would not be a bad idea to try it here. He made a number of the small boxes such as are used to catch shrimp, took them out into the channel, and sank them. This morning when he took them out he had several quarts of genuine shrimp, which he displayed to a large number of people, afterwards selling them to local caterers, who say that they were the real thing. It is likely that Bolin's success will lead others to make a trial.

Many People Hurt in the Riot and $25,000 Damage Was Done.

FOUR ITALIANS SHOT IN RIOT

SPECTATORS WERE ANGRY.

St. Louis, Mo., June 6—The bull fight advertised for the arena near the world's fair grounds did not take place yesterday afternoon, and as a result the building is in ashes, a total loss of $25,000, and a number of people are nursing sore heads and limbs. It was recently announced that a bull fight would take place, but it was understood it was not to be a real bull fight, but one in which pads were used, and no harm done to man or beast. Despite this people began to protest, and at the last moment the governor ordered it stopped.

About 2500 men and boys had assembled at the arena, and when a paper was served on the announcer that the fight could not take place, the crowd became wild and after finding that it could not recover its money, it set fire to the place and it was burned to the ground. In the accompanying riot many were hurt, but none seriously.

Police came to the rescue and a brisk fusillade followed.

MAN WITH THE HOE

BREAKS THE ARM OF THE MAN WITH THE KNIFE.

John Brandon and Pete Hale, well known farmers residing on the Oaks Station road a mile beyond Tyler, this county had a fight early this morning in which Hale had his left arm broken near the wrist. Brandon didn't receive a scratch.

It is understood that Hale was jealous. He was advancing towards Brandon with a knife, according to Brandon, and the latter had to use the hoe. The injury will probably disable Hale for sometime. Brandon went before Justice Sears and gave bond for his appearance a week from Wednesday to answer for a breach of the peace. Hale's wife and children are the only witnesses to the affair.

SAILOR ARRESTED

HE WAS CAUGHT IN A REFRIGERATOR CAR TODAY BY AN I. C. OFFICER.

Special Officer Dick Tolbert, of the Illinois Central today arrested a man giving the name of John Peter Forthner in a refrigerator car in the local yards.

The man wears sailor clothes, and claims that he was on the Philadelphia for fifteen years. Owing to his garb it is thought he may be a deserter, although he does not wear a United States uniform, but that of a merchantman sailor. He claims New York as his home and was in an east bound car, saying he was on his way home from New Orleans.

He denies that he is a deserter, and claims that he quit the sea a year or more ago. He was today taken before Judge Sanders and fined $5 and costs for sleeping in a box car.

Legal Technicality.
A Chelsea (England) hospital is mourning the loss of a bequest of $6,000 through a legal informality. The testator signed his will in his bedroom, and the witnesses thoughtlessly carried it into another room before signing it, thus making the document invalid.

THE AGE

NATURE NOTICES IT.

The younger the child that is allowed careless diet like tea, coffee, too much candy, etc., the heavier the penalty Nature exacts. Healthy children, on the other hand, never know what "nerves" are, but sometimes we hear of nervous prostration even as young as 15 or 16. There was such a case in Newark who says:

"Although I only used coffee after I was 15 and then only moderately I had nervous prostration before I was 20. They sent me to a sanitarium where the only treatment I got was a change of diet in which I was not allowed coffee or tea and after a month of this treatment I returned home in my normal state of health."

"One morning I thought I would try just one cup of coffee and later in the day symptoms of the old nervous trouble appeared. I said to myself that it was a mere coincidence and after a week I tried another cup of coffee. The same result followed and of course this convinced me coffee was the cause of my trouble and must be let alone."

I had heard so much about Postum and when I tried it I found it even better than I had heard. I was happy to think I had found such a delicious hot meal time drink I could use in place of coffee, until it occurred to me that a drink which is so excellent and so much like coffee must have some of the effects of coffee.

"So I went slow on the Postum at first, until I proved that it had no bad effects like coffee but found that I could drink all I wanted of it and the more I drank the better I was, just the opposite of coffee in every way. I know now it's because Postum is made of pure cereals that is so healthful."

"All who taste Postum at my home are delighted with it because I follow the directions and boil it full 15 minutes. But I have known lots of people who try Postum once but abandon it because it was made carelessly."

"My husband is a physician and he and all the rest of our household use Postum regularly and think its flavor equal to the best coffee. Husband says it is entirely healthful." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Accurately Compounded Means Something Here....

When we make use of the above much used statement it is not a mere figure of speech. It means something. Our accuracy in weighing and measuring is that of the most careful chemist. A trifle too much of one thing or a grain too little of another may make all the difference in the world in the result of a prescription. Our prescription work is accurate to the smallest fraction of a grain. This means something to you and to your doctor.

A Suggestion for Prudent Men

To the average man five or ten dollars a month saved appears too insignificant to pay for the effort, yet a laying aside of ten dollars each month and the judicious investment of it may prove the beginning of a fortune. These ends are accomplished through the LEVEL PREMIUM SIX-YEAR BONDS of the Southern Mutual Investment Company of Lexington, Kentucky, which specifies the length of the investment period, seventy-four months, consequently the company may buy longer term securities than savings banks, which pay larger profits and are at the same time just as safe. The Southern Mutual Investment Company distributes all earnings amongst investors, in proportion to their investments. Furthermore, this company handles only the safest securities, taking no speculative chances, so that there is no possibility of loss to the bondholder, and he is further protected by the company's deposit of $100,000 with the Kentucky State Treasurer; by the facts that all officers and employees are heavily bonded in Fidelity Companies, and the business is controlled by state laws and under the supervision of state officials.

One unusually attractive feature of the Level Premium Six-Year Bond is that the redemption of coupons during the term of the contract secures an income to the bondholder, which, of course, may be compounded by reinvesting—a thing not accomplished under any other form of installment investment.

Men in any station of life may buy these bonds, and every one receives returns in absolute proportion to the size of the investment. The bond may be paid for by monthly installments of as little as $2.25, and any multiple of $2.25 may be invested.

This company, with its past experience and present earnings as criteria, estimates that on a net investment of $7.40 (extending over a period of seventy-four months) in this bond, the holder should receive a profit of $493.33-1-3.

Does any other institution, affording the same security, pay as great a profit in an equal period of time?

A FEW FACTS ABOUT The Southern Mutual Investment Company

Has been in active operation ten years.

Has accumulated assets of over $950,000.00.

Has paid investors over $1,400,000.00.

Has deposited with Treasurer of Kentucky $100,000.00.

Use Shoffner's Sure Cure

The Great Tonic and Blood Purifier—Cures Indigestion, Dyspepsia and Catarrh.

It is a trite and true saying that the "blood is the life." Now where does the blood come from? Everybody knows, or should know, that it comes from the nutritive elements extracted by the stomach from the food we eat. If the digestive organs do not perform their functions by reason of disease germs, there is no nutrition extracted, and the food might better be thrown in the dump to decay and breed germs in the open air than to remain in the stomach and become a rotten, putrid mass, as it naturally does if there is no digestion. No disease germ can live and find lodgment in a human body that uses the Shoffner's Sure Cure. Price $1.00.

What People Say of the Shoffner's Sure Cure.

PADUCAH, Ky., March 5, 1903.

To Whom It May Concern:

This is to certify that I was a sufferer with indigestion for five years and could get no relief until I bought one bottle of Shoffner's Sure Cure, and it helped me so much that I took six bottles, and it has cured me sound and well, thanks to the Shoffner's Sure Cure.

MRS. JOHN SMEDLEY, 806 S. Third St.

If after using one bottle according to directions you are not benefited, your money will be refunded.

This is to certify that I believe the Shoffner's Sure Cure saved my life. I was not able to sit up in bed when I began taking the remedy. I had such a severe cough I thought I had consumption. Physicians had given me up to die. After taking one bottle I was able to sit up some. After using five bottles I was fully restored to health. I cannot say enough in favor of this wonderful remedy for indigestion.

INTERFERES WITH RAISING THE CHATTANOOGA.

About 400 people went up to the wreck of the Chattanooga yesterday afternoon on the Steamer Dick Fowler, and viewed the sunken craft from all sides. The rising river has greatly interfered with the work of raising her, and nothing further will be done until the water recedes.

A portion of the boat is out of water above the boiler deck. The water has risen above some of the bulk-heading.

RHEUMATISM

JOINTS AND MUSCLES SWOLLEN AND STIFF

A disease so painful and far-reaching in its effects upon the human system as Rheumatism, must have a deep and well-laid foundation. It originates and develops in the blood, and, like other diseases of the blood, is frequently inherited. The poisonous acids with which the blood is charged circulate through the system, breaking down the health, irritating the nerves, settling in joints and muscles, and causing the sharp, cutting pains peculiar to Rheumatism. Unless the blood is purified, joints and muscles become coated with the acid matter and are rendered stiff and sore, and the nerves completely wrecked. Rheumatism, being a constitutional blood disease, requires internal treatment. Liniments, plasters and such things as are applied outwardly, give only temporary relief. S.S.S. is the recognized greatest of all blood purifiers and tonics, and in no disease does it act so promptly and beneficially as Rheumatism, neutralizing the acids and restoring the blood to a pure, healthy condition and invigorating and toning up the nerves and all parts of the system. It is guaranteed strictly vegetable. Write us should you desire medical advice, which will cost you nothing.

NAPOLEON, As Seen by His Associates

FOOTPRINTS OF NAPOLEON

(Copyright, 1904, by G. L. Kilmer.)

I. NAPOLEON BONAPARTE, called by his enemies the "parvenu emperor," ascended the throne of France in 1804. For ten years he held the world's stage as the most amazing figure in all history, rivaling in his achievements the fame of Alexander, Caesar and Hannibal. After boxing real kings and queens about, like a child with playhouse puppets, he was himself deposed, and for nearly a century the nations he had dazzled or upturned looked upon him as a whirlwind of ruthless and well-nigh irresistible energy whose advent had best be forgotten. Great minds sought in the secrecy of the closet to comprehend him; now and then a master essayed to portray him. His enemies had the loudest voice for two score years, or until the theatrical restoration of his dynasty under his nephew, Napoleon III., in 1851. Then followed flattery and eulogy, likewise the continued suppression of impartial views.

Years after the collapse of the second empire (1870) came a third revival of interest in Napoleon I., and a mass of contemporary memoirs and authentic documents have from time to time emerged from their hiding as materials for the student and historian. Meanwhile the ghost of Napoleon has been laid; fear and passion have died out, and today the world is eager to understand and appreciate where once it was glad to belittle and forget. To meet the newly awakened curiosity about the great Corsican, I have been asked to prepare a series of articles or studies depicting Napoleon the man as he was known to his closest associates at different epochs in his marvelous career. In these columns, therefore, other pens than mine will speak, pens that were busy in the very shadow of Napoleon's mighty personality.

My authorities will be the men and women of the immediate circle in which Napoleon moved as a boy at school, as a junior officer in the service of the king, as general and first consul; people of the imperial household, his comrades in arms, his secretaries, his cabinet ministers, his valet de chambre, the confidants of Josephine and the companions of the exile of St. Helena. Upon their authentic memoirs, their private journals, their secret diaries and private correspondence is turned the searchlight of modern investigation to the end that Napoleon need no longer be an enigma to minds wishing to understand him.

Unfortunately the camera was not an institution of Napoleon's time. There are innumerable portraits in existence

NAPOLEON BONAPARTE, LIEUTENANT OF ARTILLERY.
(From a water color in the collection of Baron Larrey.)

by artists who professed to draw from life, but whenever Napoleon favored a painter with a sitting, especially after his coronation in 1804, it was with the purpose of getting a result to suit himself. He loved to be likened to Caesar. Occasionally an artist who was unhampered by official restrictions enjoyed the privileges of the court and camp, where he saw the emperor frequently, and in this somewhat doubtful way placed his impressions upon canvas.

Many of the portraits of Napoleon antedating the empire likewise flatter or idealize the subject. But there are among the studies of this period a few that bear the stamp of lifelikeness. Moreover, they correspond with candid descriptions of Napoleon as he appeared in everyday life. In this class belongs the portrait accompanying this article. Its date is about 1787. At that time Napoleon's face was thin, with features angular and sharp. The artist evidently made the best of the young soldier's dress, for it is described by others as somewhat shabby. His general appearance as he impressed the Parisians was that of a "fresh importation from the country."

In all the actual life portraits of Napoleon there are noticeable the large head, the high brow, the Grecian nose, the double chin and the expressive eyes which contemporary writers unite upon as the identifying features of Napoleon.

In the barest outline the story of Napoleon Bonaparte's wonderful career and dramatic ending reads like a page from the "Arabian Nights." The subject will be treated in the series to follow mainly by miscellaneous stories illustrating the personality of Napoleon, and will not be arranged in consecutive order like formal biography and history. In lieu of a biographical sketch the chronological summary given below will be found interesting and valuable, showing, as it does, how close we now are to the centennials of many dazzling events in modern European annals. It is noteworthy that while none of the Bonaparte name or blood at present wears a crown a great-grandson of the deposed Empress Josephine wields the scepter of Sweden as the third ruler in the Bernadotte dynasty.

Napoleon's only child born in wedlock, the Duke of Reichstadt, died in 1832. A putative son, born in 1806, died as late as 1881. The last survivor of the second generation of Bonapartes, Princess Mathilde, daughter of Napoleon's brother Jerome, died Jan. 2, 1904. She was born in 1820.

1821—Aged 51. Died at St. Helena May 5; buried there May 8.

1840—Remains disinterred and embarked on the French ship Belle Poule, commanded by Prince de Joinville, son of the reigning king, Louis Philippe, and placed in a crypt at the chapel of Hotel des Invalides, Paris.

Napoleon's great battlefields were on the soil of Italy, Austria, Prussia, Russia, Saxony, Belgium, Spain and France. He humiliated the monarchs of Prussia and Austria and forced the czar to conclude peace. Four kingdoms, besides imperial France, were brought into the Bonaparte family by the might of his sword and crowns placed upon the heads of three of his brothers and the husband of a sister. Dukedoms and principalities were bestowed with free hand upon favorite generals and cabinet ministers.

And yet the great conqueror was but a man sprung from the people—how great and how little, how noble and how base, how weak and how formidable, how tender and how cruel, how crafty and how sincere, these columns will tell in the simple language of his household and court.

A COLORED BOY'S SUDDEN DEATH

It is Alleged He Drank Too Much
New Whiskey.

Hemorrhage and Congestion Resulted in Quick Demise—Body Swelled
Very Rapidly.

NO INQUEST WAS HELD

Norman Fields, colored, age 17, the son of Granison Fields, of North 12th street, died Saturday night of hemorrhage and congestion of the lungs, caused, it is reported, by drinking too much young whiskey.

Fields was employed at the Terrell distillery and had gone to work early in the morning. It is said he drank a great deal of whiskey and on starting home at noon was too drunk to go unaided. A friend started home with him, but he fell to the ground before reaching his destination and was seized with a bad hemorrhage.

Dr. C. A. Isabel was called and administered to the boy's wants, but he died in a few hours. The report that he had drunk too much new whiskey was denied by the proprietors of the distillery, who say as far as they could learn the boy had taken but one drink that morning. No inquest was held and the body swelled so after death it was buried for fear it would get too big for a coffin.

THE D—FOOL VOTE.

How Champ Clark Won Precinct by Daring Rejoinder.

Congressman Champ Clark usually manages to take pretty good care of himself, whatever the circumstances. During one of his campaigns in Missouri he struck an exceptionally hostile neighborhood. He had been subjected to several interruptions, and finally a burly fellow strode down to the front of the platform and said:

"Say, you're a d— fool, and everybody here knows it!"

Clark's face actually became radiant at this announcement. He leaned over, and before the bewildered spectator who had hurled the epithet could think, seized his hand and wrung it warmly. Then, facing his audience squarely, said:

"The remark of my friend here has given me renewed encouragement. If before I had any shadow of doubt as to my success, he has dispelled it, for if I poll the full d— fool vote of this precinct, I will be elected by a rousing majority."

Clark afterward said he knew he was taking long chances. But the audience went wild over the rejoinder, and the Congressman really did carry the precinct when election day rolled around.—Baltimore Herald.

A HOLE IN HER STOCKING.

Latest Device of the Girl Who Wants to Be Admired.

She was most fashionably gowned; every particle of her attire was up to date, and every woman turned to give her a second look. As she came to a crossing, however, she lifted her slither skirt a little higher, and, oh, horror! there was a hole in her black silk stocking, disclosing the white flesh of her dainty ankle beneath. One could not help seeing it.

"Gracious!" said I to my wife, "isn't it a shame that a young lady who is so well dressed should be so careless as to go about with a hole in her stocking?"

"Oh, you stupid," replied my wife, "that's just like you men. Don't you know that there is a purpose in that? That young lady has put that hole in her stocking purposely."

"Oh, nonsense!" I said.

"No nonsense about it. That young lady prides herself on her small ankle and she is bound to attract attention. For that reason she has made a hole in her stocking, and she knows that every time she lifts her skirt that a wee little bit persons are going to see that hole and admire that ankle."

"Well, she certainly has a pretty ankle," I said.

"Girl! how dare you?" almost shrieked my wife.

I said no more, and the subject of holes in stockings was not discussed any further.—New York Herald.

HAD RIDDLE SOLVED

SAD FATE OF INVENTOR OF PERPETUAL MOTION.

Fifty Years Ago the Idea Was Shown to Be Feasible, but the Wise Men of the Day Scoffed—And Humanity's Benefactor Died.

If there be any one negative proposition in mechanics that is held to be undeniable by the entire scientific world, it is that it is not possible to construct a perpetual motion machine. And by a perpetual motion machine, taking it in its simplest form, is meant a piece of mechanism which will remain indefinitely in continual motion solely by the action of the attraction of gravitation.

Nevertheless no less a person than Mr. David M. Stone, who was for many years the editor of the Journal of Commerce, and whose personal character has always been above suspicion, is the authority for the positive statement that he had in his possession for several weeks, about fifty years ago, a machine of precisely that sort. He declared that the files of the Journal of Commerce of about 1852 contained a full account of the machine, but these files were destroyed by fire, and he told the story from memory. "However," he declared, "I remember the facts perfectly."

"About 1852 an old man, perhaps 80 years old, brought the machine to my office to show to me. It was constructed about like this. I think there were six of the hollow arms. In each one was a little ball. The arms were not rigidly fixed, but had a little play. As the cylinder revolved the balls rolled. Thus, the balls in the arms on the right were always an inch or so further from the center than those on the left and they counterbalanced the weight of the arms themselves. The whole machine was always, therefore, heavier on the right than on the left, and so it always revolved. I think there was also a spring in each arm that helped the reaction of the ball, but I cannot recollect the arrangement of the springs.

"Then there was a pendulum that was geared to regulate the speed. If that was disconnected the machine went faster and faster till the centrifugal force kept all the little balls at one spot, and then it would go slower and slower till it stopped. I tried that once, and started it again with my finger.

"Well, I kept that machine in my office for several weeks, under my own private lock, to make sure that there was no trick about it, and it went right along. The Journal of Commerce printed an account of it, and was ridiculed unmercifully in consequence, but the machine kept right on going.

"Then the old man exhibited it at a fair in New Jersey, charging a small entrance fee, and some local scientific men—I think one of them was a Princeton professor—had him arrested for taking money under false pretenses. He was arraigned and the justice of the peace asked him what defense he had, and the old man said his only defense was that the machine did what he claimed. The justice was angry and asked him how he dared say that when these eminent gentlemen swore there must be a spring in it or it wouldn't go.

"And the old man said: 'I have worked at it for forty years, and there is no spring in it, and it does go.'"

"So they got on ax and chopped it up, and there was a great silence, for there was no spring. And the old man picked up the fragments and went away with the tears rolling down his face. And he died soon after."—New York Herald.

TRAINING OF A PRINCE.

Present King of Italy Was Sternly
Brought Up.

Everybody who remembers the king of Italy as a lad should remember the name of Col. Osio, for many years his "governor." The prince of Naples, as the king was then called, was a very delicate boy and he was treated by Col. Osio with almost Spartan severity, which was much criticized at the time. Nevertheless, the king cherished a kindly feeling for him, as was proved on the occasion of the birth of little Princess Yolande, by his conferring on his ex-governor the hereditary title of count, with the privilege of adding the pale blue of the house of Savoy to his coat of arms. The following anecdote illustrates Col. Osio's methods with his royal pupil: One day he received a request from a well-known personage for the autograph of the young prince, to be added to a collection containing that of his father and grandfather. The prince was about to comply when the colonel sharply forbade him, adding: "What value has the signature of an insignificant boy, who does not even know how to write properly?"

Reeves, the son of Captain Jake Elliott, is ill.

MUCH ON HAND

For Tonights Meeting of the City Council.

A Number of New Ordinances Expected To Come Up.

The regular session of the council will be held tonight, with much business on hand. It is probable that several new ordinances will be introduced and several others asked.

The board of public works will ask that an ordinance be introduced looking to the laying underground of all electric wires in the business part of the city, and on all streets hereafter improved by paving or with bitulithic compound.

Dr. Garber, milk and meat inspector, wants an ordinance preventing butchers and others from blowing up carcasses of sheep and calves for the purpose of skinning them more easily, claiming that the practice is unhealthful and changing market opening from 1:30 to 4 p. m. on Saturday.

It is probable that the ordinance for the improvement of Broadway from Fifth to Ninth will be introduced, also an ordinance requiring people to connect all pipes with the sanitary or storm water sewerage along the streets to be permanently improved.

The business tonight will be of three weeks accumulation, and the session will probably be a lengthy one.

Hen Added to Its Value.

There was a commotion, caused by a negro and an industrious hen, in a Jersey City trolley car a few days ago. When the negro boarded the car he had a soap box under his arm. During the journey the cackling of a hen excited the other passengers. One of their number recognized the hen's signals. So did the negro, for he said, apologetically, "I expects that there long-legged hen of mine has done laid an egg." He then investigated and drew forth an egg.

A Missouri Judge.

It does not always pay to appear too independent, especially in a courtroom. They are telling the following story on a former Missourian, who is now a judge in Oklahoma: A gambler was tried before the judge recently and convicted of playing poker. He appeared in court dressed in flashy style and with plenty of money in his pockets, apparently unconcerned as to the outcome of his trial. Looking over his spectacles, the judge in a squeaky voice said:

"Jim, stand up." The gambler obeyed.

"Jim, have you anything to say before I pass sentence on you?"

"No, sir."

"Jim, I'm a-goin' to fine you $50."

"All right, judge," interrupted the gambler, "here it is in my hip pocket."

"And give you sixty days in jail," continued the judge. "Now, look and see if you've got that in your hip pocket, too."—Kansas City Star.

The Meaning of "Carat."

The value of a diamond is calculated on its weight, which is estimated by what are called "carats," originally an Indian weight. Four grains go to the "carat," the value of which varies slightly in different countries, and formerly the rule was that the value of the stone increased with the square of the weight in carats. This, however, is rather out of date, and the value is now governed by the beauties of the particular stone, so that it is practically impossible, especially with "specimen stones," to give any fixed rule.

British Investments Abroad.

The great increase that has occurred in British investments abroad is apparent in some figures mentioned by Mr. Ritchie, a few days ago, in the house of commons. Income tax statistics, he said, showed that whereas in 1881-2 our income derived from investments abroad was £30,000,000, ten years later it was £54,000,000, and in 1901-2 no less than £62,000,000.

Speculation.

When a pickpocket well known to the New York police was arraigned on the charge of extracting a man's wallet from his pocket on a street car he gave his occupation as that of a broker and speculator. "Do you mean that you speculate on the money you will find in a man's pocket?" asked the magistrate sarcastically. "No," replied the thief, "I speculate on whether or not I will be caught."

Horse and Automobile.

Once upon a time a faithful horse found that his master was using him less and less, and the neglect made him extremely unhappy, though he could not account for it.

One day, while in his pasture, he saw his master riding down the road in a vehicle that moved very rapidly, though there was no horse attached to it. He made inquiry and learned what had brought the change in his life.

"Alas!" he sighed, "I have lost my prestige, and the automobile comes first."

Moral:—The cart is before the horse.

Medicines to Take Along.

The medicine case for a long trip should carry an ounce of powdered permanganate of potash. A pinch of it dissolved in water will soften the skin, heal eruptions and neutralize bad odors. Citric acid, bought at a reliable shop, is another good traveling companion. Lemons are clumsy in a traveling bag, and often high-priced and scarce, but the citric acid will take their place perfectly in warding off bilious headache and nausea.
